Sarah Platt Decker Chapter D. A.R. Durango, Colorado

Introduction:

The Durango, Colorado D.A.R. Chapter sponsored the publication of this series of histories of the pioneers who settled in the area where the boundaries of New Mexico, Colorado, Utah and Arizona meet. This area is often called Four Corners or San Juan Country. These stories were originally published in four volumes and later republished in a single volume. However, none of the published versions were indexed and so the Albuquerque Genealogy Club has created this index to make it easier for researchers to find names in any of the four volumes.

Even when republished in a single volume the original page numbers for each separate volume were retained. Since there are four sets of identical page numbers, it is important that the researcher take care to match page numbers with the appropriate volume.

Many names were dissimilar but appear to be the same person. However this compiler chose to use the original spellings and allow the researcher to decide if they are the same person.
